Transdisciplinary education

Our students learn to work in a team, interacting with other agents in order to have a 360° vision: other professions, clients, patients, companies, etc.

Adapted to the reality of work

Training in a professional environment. With more than 6,000 agreements with companies for professional internships and other activities that bring students closer to the profession.

With a focus on research and data analysis

Our students develop critical thinking, are confronted with the systematic analysis of information and are able to make decisions in complex situations with a data-driven approach.

We build responsible global citizens

Education in values permeates the model in a transversal way, so that our graduates are socially, ethically and environmentally committed.

A faculty of practising professionals

Our model is possible thanks to a teaching staff made up of committed professionals who are close to the students, knowledgeable in their disciplines and in permanent contact with the professional world.

An integrated curriculum

Today's professions require us to learn holistically, away from more traditional models.

The integrated curriculum enables learning in which the student integrates knowledge and competences and interrelates concepts and areas of action, allowing a closer approach to the professional world.
